

BANKER LEWISOHN IS DECLARED INSANE BY SHERIFF'S JURY

Finds Gay Broadway Habitude
Mentally Incapable of Man-

New York, May 17.—The flood tide of gay Broadway was checked for a moment today by a bit of news—and then rushed on again.

Walter Lewisoohn is insane. A sheriff's jury, headed by testimony by Lewisoohn's brother, Frederick, and a Bellevue Hospital physician, Dr. Robert L. Smith, so declared in a decision made public today.

The $1,262,957 estate left him by his father has shrunk on the Great White Way to a mere $1,262,957. Lewisoohn is not competent to manage this remainder, the jury has decided. So Broadway merely passed quickly for a moment. Why worry about a fourth million?

It is still a debated question whether the sportsman, banker and benignant host of many a gay party—collected because with women and song the mad whirl is the canyon of Wall Street.

REVEL PARTY

There has been talk of a mad in relation to Leonard Hughes. There have been hints of other women. The party given by the trade banker in the night preceding the mysterious slaying of Joseph Dunn, Jr., is referred to.

James L. Livermore, the "boy player" of Wall Street, is believed to be the banker's attorney for his estranged son. A cocktail party at which Lewisoohn poured hundreds of thousands into the purse of Livermore.

But whatever added the mind of a man who burned Broadway in the night after right, he has been shunted out of this life that is so sad and since May 22, 1923, has been confined in a private sanatorium near Greenburgh, N. Y.

Strange stories of Lewisoohn's actions have come out of the sanatorium. He has been pictured standing for hours, babbling the name of Mrs. Hughes into a telephone. He has no connection.

WED BOOK.

He has been followed through every section of the city by a "wed" book, which he never came. Leonard, who knew the banker only as a man, then there is his wife, whom he met after the death of his first wife, and who is now known as Mrs. Marie. She has been toward the music of her own life with Walter Lewisoohn. She has been toward the music of her own life with Walter Lewisoohn. She has been toward the music of her own life with Walter Lewisoohn.

WED OF HUSBAND ADJUDGED INSANE

New York, May 17.—The wife of a man, charged with murdering her husband with an axe on March 22, 1923, was adjudged insane by a jury for the Criminal Justice, to be Judge McIntire. A command was issued that she be confined in the city of New York, now so well as when she committed the crime.

The railroad's lawyers have taken him to court for the fare. The railroad is suing him for $178, the amount he had to pay to get back to Trenton. YOUTH AND GRL SHOT TO DEATH

Mystery Clouds Killing of High School Pupils on Lonely Spot

Harrisburg, Pa., May 17.—Harry Manser, 21 years old, president of the senior class of Marysville High School, near here, and Vera Ellenberger, eighteen, of Hollabachburg, were found shot to death in an automobile near Hogestown early today.

Whether the killing was a double murder or a murder and suicide has not been determined, although reports received here were that no gun was found.

The bodies were discovered by George Allright, the girl's uncle, at whose home in Marysville she had been visiting, and by Joseph Gansler, the boy's father.

The two men had been hunting the couple since midnight when they failed to return to Marysville after having started out early last night to look for flowers.

The car was found at Lamb's Gap, a lonely spot in the Cumberland county hills, between Marysville and Carlisle.

Gansler figured in a shooting at a year and a half ago in the same spot. He was shot in the chest by a young man who was wounded.

The shooting was the outcome of a camping trip by Gansler and a girl named Ellen. They dropped at a cabin which they claimed showed signs of having been used by a young man.

When another party of young men came upon them they surrounded them in the cabin and a gun battle followed. The young man was shot to death and Gansler claimed came through the cabin door.

Gansler and his companion declared they did not fire the shot and that of an unknown person in the cabin. Investigation of the case was dropped.

Washington, May 17.—Brigadier General Charles Sawyer, one of the White House aides, after being the President, made the following statement:

"The President is indisposed with a cold, and it is deemed advisable that he remain in his room and keep quiet so he can return to his duties without liability."

Washington, May 17.—Because of a slight cold, President Coolidge called his engagements for today and remained away from his office.

It was said at the White House that he was not expected to bed, but had decided to spend the day in his room on the advice of physicians.

Mr. Coolidge contracted a cold several days ago, and his recovery has been retarded by an unusual number of days of rain, which have kept the capital enveloped in dampness almost continuously.

Yesterday he consulted a doctor, to whom he had made repeated visits since he entered the White House. At the doctor's office it was said no alarming symptoms had been noted, but that as a precaution it is best to keep the President away from his desk at least during the morning hours when callers usually are received. It is possible he will go to his office this afternoon to attend to some correspondence.

It was the first time since he has been kept away from work by illness. One of the engagements had to be cancelled when the various departments were notified that the President would not be in the White House today. It was the first time since he has been kept away from work by illness.

PROPAGANDA RUMOR UPSETS MR. THOMAS

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

LOWELL THOMAS, trained to a hair in the art of sticking to his job regardless of annoyances, has stepped out of his character as lecturer for "With Allenby in Palestine" at Tremont Temple long enough to drive a deadly spike into whispered rumors that he is a propagandist in the employ of the British government, at them Jewish gentlemen and a few others who might be interested in Allenby's performance in the Holy Land. Usually Mr. Thomas sticks to his text and pays small heed to interference, but the other night he supplemented his lecture with a little side talk on "What's What" in his own relations to the picture. And this sprightly-minded young man from Omaha, who once turned Princeton upside-down with his own independent views, declares he's no propagandist, hasn't been invited to be one and would refuse to play the role in any event.

LET him tell his own story. "Some people think that because I speak well of the Jews in Palestine that I must be hired to say these complimentary things by the Zionists. Others believe that because half of my story deals with the exploits of Colonel Lawrence, a young Irishman that this is Irish propaganda. And some believe that because I tell of the brave deeds of Allenby and the other Englishmen who played such a prominent part in winning the Holy Land back from the Turks that I am in the employ of the British government. I am supposed to have been subsidized to the extent of half a million dollars to tell how well the British soldiers fought or why the Jews should have Palestine. Frankly, I do not think these reports do credit to the intelligence of those who spread them."

WHEREUPON Mr. Thomas explained just what he stood on the subject. "I saw the British soldiers, except the opportunity to witness a great feat of arms. And I gave the Jews nothing, praise Allah for that! The British have very kindly said they owe me a great deal, but they haven't paid me a cent, nor even offered a little on account. This production is purely an American tribute to Allenby, the modern Caesar de Lion, and the men of seventeen different nationalities who took part in the most dramatic cavalry drive in history. Personally, I am not an Englishman, and wouldn't be one for all the wealth of Lombard Street, and I wouldn't be an Irishman either, nor a Welshman, nor a Scotchman, nor a New Zealander, nor a Jew. Yet brave people of these races, and many others, joined hands in Allenby's sensational expedition and by their courage and loyalty to a great cause made it, in some respects, the most far-reaching triumph of the World War. Where the crusades of old failed, these men of many nationalities and many religions, brought success to a military movement that has been a dream of both Christians and Jews for more than a thousand years."

AMIALE CONTROVERSY ON WHO PICKED JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT

WHILE Joseph Schildkraut of "The Highwayman" still regards as the champion long distance matinee idol and stage lover of the past three seasons.

value may be forgiven if they place merely an artist's halo over his well shaped brow. Schildkraut has business sense, too, and has he turned into good account when an selected Lester Bryant, a young Chicago producer, to direct his artistic exploits. There is some dispute on the subject of which discovered the other, whether Bryant slipped a fiasco over Schildkraut and pulled him off the eastern seaboard, or whether Schildkraut attached himself to Bryant's entourage, and then, for glory, but in any event the combination proved a rare success from every theatrical angle. Schildkraut is no "strut and feign" fellow among costars, playboys, has been building up popularity for himself in some fourteen or so seasons. Bryant, on the other side of the page, is an almost stranger to these parts, although if you should casually mention his name anywhere in Chicago's famous Loop there would be a muted voice to give you answer and declare that he is the brilliant young star in the theatre of the Middle West. If you demand proof, let it be known that he was chosen to play the role of the "Highwayman" in the new production of "The Highwayman" at the Majestic. Loop there would be a muted voice to give you answer and declare that he is the brilliant young star in the theatre of the Middle West. If you demand proof, let it be known that he was chosen to play the role of the "Highwayman" in the new production of "The Highwayman" at the Majestic.

POSSIBLY Mr. Bryant has visions of making Chicago the proving center of the country, thus faring distant and diverse upon New York. While this takes on the outward signs of a Hercules' deed, the young man has two elements of success at his command—money and courage. When he first took over the Paramount, a theatre in Chicago that had been going through an unpropitious run of soul weather, he was ridiculed and set down as a presumptuous young fool. Assuming responsibility for a theatre without having immediate prospects of attractions to occupy the stage, and that it was Bryant stood at the time—certainly carried his mark of courage.

WHEN he turned his attention to recruiting on a larger scale fate led him across the path of Joseph Schildkraut. It was a happy meeting, mind, business instinct and talent, but there is still controversy as to who began the showing. Bryant insists that he discovered Schildkraut, but the latter gives emphatic denial to the claim, as he calls it. It was he who discovered Bryant. And there you are.

GUIDE TO THE THEATRES

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

Joseph Schildkraut in "The Highwayman" at the Majestic. (Third week.) The theatre's most impressive Romeo in a comedy that permits a wide range of love making. The last week, Mrs. Fiske in "Helen's Boys" at the Plymouth. (Second week.) In which Mrs. Fiske takes a make believe fling at high life and cracks you squarely on the funny bone.

Fay Bainter in "The Dream Girl" at the Wilbur. (Second week.) Another Victor Herbert musical play. More or less romantic as you must suspect with Walter Woolf stepping into the picture.

Thurston, magician, at the Selwyn. (Third week.) Astonishing, baffling magic, with illusions that make you gasp. The kind of entertainment that steadily attracts the most discerning.

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad" at the Colonial. (Third week.) Tales from the Arabian Nights more wonderful than the original, in which the camera takes its turn at the picture.

"The Ten Commandments" at the Tremont. (Sixteenth week.) Photographic reproduction of the script from Egypt by Moses and the Israelites, linked with a modern melodrama of gripping plot.

"With Allenby in Palestine and Arabia" at Tremont Temple. (Fifth week.) The last crusade into the Holy Land beautifully pictured and graphically described by Lowell Thomas.

BIBLE WINNERS STAGE CAREER TO BE NAMED MONDAY

The prize winners in the Bible contest upon the dual questions of "Is We Need a New Bible or Not?" and "The Ten Commandments sufficient, or do we need a new one?" will be named Monday afternoon at Bryant's Boston American.

Many interesting, novel and remarkable scenes were received in more than thousand letters that came into the editor during the brief space of the week in which the contest was held.

One of the interesting phases, as well as one of the most important of the contest, was the overwhelming favor of "not needing a new Bible." There were numerous who wrote that they had read the Bible and found it to be a masterpiece of literature, and that they had no need of a new one. The contest was held in the form of a competition, and the winners were named Monday afternoon at Bryant's Boston American.

You May Figure It Out for Yourself

If Thurston, the magician now appearing at the Scherwin, can get a lot of things out of a high lady, how much satisfaction can a woman take from a new puppet? This is Thurston's question and if you have the answer, write to him at his theatre.

MAKING MAGIC NEEDS DEEP THINKING

Thurston, Who Knows All
About It, Tells You
Why

Howard Thurston, the magician, now appearing at the Scherwin, in speaking of the requirements of the trade, says that the modern magician must be a philosopher, an astronomer, a mathematician, an actor, a chemist, a physicist, and a genius. He must be a man of advanced thought, a man who is in touch with the progress of the world of thought, and particularly of modern science. He must possess intuition, intelligence, a mind which is controlling and convincing, and he must be a good judge of human nature. His duty is to put his audience at every point, so that he is not a mere juggler, but capable of taking advantage of every opportunity and on the other hand, ready to turn defeat into victory—instant victory—in case any trick does not work to perfection and terminates with expected results.

Mr. Thurston's love for the children is an outstanding quality. He would rather have an audience of children to perform to than appear before the grandest array of emulous who ever graced an opera first night. And the children love him because they will come to him when the stage is to help with the presentation of some of his offerings, sharing his faith in his friendliness.

NORUMBEGA'S
28TH BUSY
SEASON

Woodland Resort on the
Charles River Opens
Today

Norumbega Park will open its twenty-eighth season today. For more than two months a crew of workmen, gardeners and decorators have been preparing their area to the task of bringing the woodland resort into the full springtime brilliancy and there is little doubt that the present season will start off with all the gaiety of such things.

As usual, there will be almost countless attractions in and out of the park. The main attraction will be the new and improved Norumbega Theatre, which will include boxing, dancing, acrobatic and popular films, with the famous box as an attraction especially designed and built up for the delight of the children. In the Norumbega theatre there will be a vaudeville and picture program of carefully selected subjects. Not the least of Norumbega's attractions are the picnic grounds, the athletic field and the restaurant, all of which make it a most desirable place for families, church and civic organizations to enjoy outings under happy surroundings.

TONIGHT'S "POPS"

The Pops program has been made by Agate for the Pops concert in Norumbega. The Pops concert is a most desirable place for families, church and civic organizations to enjoy outings under happy surroundings.

PRIZES GIVEN AT R. I. SHOW TONIGHT

Prizes, May 17.—Visitors to the Rhode Island radio show in the State Armory on Cranston street have a chance of winning a long list of prizes which have been donated by exhibitors in the show.

Every purchaser of a ticket today and today received a card bearing a number.

Tonight at 9:30 the holders of lucky numbers will receive one of the prizes.

These include a superheterodyne battery donated by the New England Distributors of America, the National Carbon Company, other complete sets, four vacuum batteries, several loud speakers and a variety of accessories.

Articles on Six-Tube Set Delayed for More Study

The Boston American has been compelled to delay the articles on the six-tube set until further tests are completed.

Early experiments indicated that it was a truly remarkable set, and worthy to run with the super and Superflex. More recently, however, it was noted that one or two changes might be necessary before it could be given the American's seal of approval.

We feel that the radio fans who read the American would rather wait a brief interval than to get what which did not measure up to the American's standard as set by the Super series.

LIFE IN SUGRUE'S PEEL, SAYS FORBES ARREST

"I Know Too Much!" Ex-Vet
Bureau Head Says, Discussing
Plot to Kill Him

Charles R. Forbes, grievously ill at the home of his sister on Colonial Road, in Brookline, never heard of Caesar Tate, the man alleged to have come forward in Philadelphia with the story of an attempt to induce him to hire guerrillas for the purpose of killing the deposed head of the United States Veterans' Bureau, but acknowledges he has known of such a conspiracy.

"I know altogether too much for the safety and comfort of certain individuals," Forbes said today, "and they want to get me out of the way."

BREWER WOMAN'S STORY.
"I never heard of this particular plot," said Mrs. Eliza H. Mortimer, 101½

Daniel H. Sugrue, indicted in Middlesex County with William J. Corcoran, Daniel H. Cady and Miss Phyllis Allen on conspiracy charges, may be arrested within twenty-four hours as a result of a ruling by Judge Whiting.

Counsel had told the court that Sugrue went to Montreal last week for his health.

Judge Whiting directed Clerk Paul Bon to call the defendant to the bar to plead to two indictments. At the court officers had called him up through the corridors, Sugrue was adjourned in default.

Judge Whiting then informed counsel that District Attorney John H. Loring could have a writ for Sugrue's arrest at any time he desired.

Henry A. Morriss, of Malabar one of the jurors, said he remembered that District Attorney Reading had inquired of the defendants with "impropriety," while in Grand Jury room, was completely exhausted when 12 jurors testified that never during their service, had the district attorney or his associate attempted to sway their verdict.

His trouble is an aggravated disease of the bladder.

He lives on liquid food, his physicians having absolutely banned solid food.

He is at all times confined to the bed.

SUSPECT PREY OF 'CHARMER' EMBROIDERS

HERE are the two letters offered in court in New York by Beverly D. Harris to substantiate the charge of third degree forgery against his wife, Eleanor Elaine Harris. The banker alleges that certain words in his handwriting were taken from one letter and used to forge the other letter, exonerating his wife.

The original letter, Mr. Harris says, was written by him and addressed to Mrs. Katha Corder of Indianapolis, Ind., in 1919. The missive came in reply to one from her. A copy of his response was kept by Mr. Harris in office of counsel.

The words in italics in the "genuine" letter are those alleged to have been used in fabricating the forgery.

My darling—
(Some roses and kisses)

On way down to court this the last day—then Liberty and you.

Yes, dear, I am ashamed of the accusations against Elaine, all of which are wholly unjust and untrue—I know will never cease to regret—too bad—but it had to be that I may have you. I believe sincerely that Elaine is a good woman and I respect and honor her loyalty to the absent sister, Samuella.

That was to be expected—but under present circumstances it would serve no purpose to engage in any discussion of these distressing matters even with you. Long Island Sunday morning—and you. Your true blue—Beverly.

BANKER'S EX-WIFE ON TRIAL

Experts on Stand Declare the "Confession" Note to Woman is Forgery

New York, May 17.—Beverly D. Harris, banker, who lately won a jury verdict in his suit for annulment of marriage against Eleanor Elaine Harris, testified in Magistrate Oberwager's court that the "my darling—(roses and kisses)" letter, reopen the annulment case, was a "fabrication," not written by him.

David N. Carvalho, famous handwriting expert, swore that the letter was forged.

A. R. Lewis, the expert whose affidavit of genuineness Mrs. Harris submitted to her motion papers along with the letter, also swore "it was a forgery."

And this was the extent to which

SAUGUS HANGS CREPE ON FIRE CHIEF JOY

Saugus has finally taken the crepe on Joy.

In other words, Milton R. Joy has been discharged as chief of the Saugus fire department.

The Saugus fire department, which was the town voted to elect the retired captain of the Charlestown fire department, after he refused to resign when his salary was cut.

Joy stirred up a lot of enemies when he took over the fire department and promptly dismissed the so-called "bull men" in the department. These men received $100 a year each and a majority of them worked in Boston and Lynn and were not available in fighting fires.

Several regular firemen were employed in lieu of the bull men, but the damage was done. Then a fire in the Kennel district, in which a boy was burned to death, gave the enemies of the chief the opening for which they had been waiting. The Saugus Improvement Association attacked the chief. So did private citizens.

Finally the selectmen voted to cut the chief's pay. He refused to take the cut and continued at the full salary. The board for the year's salary continued and now he has finally been hanged by the w. k. blue slip.

Hartford, May 17.—The rates as announced by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Central New England Railroad for commuter tickets in the latter

48-HOUR LAW IN RHODE ISLAND RULED LEGAL

Providence, R. I., May 17.—Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter today officially advised Governor William S. Flynn that the Leverett-Killam bill for women and children workers passed by the Senate on May 9 after Republican Senators had left the chamber "was passed, approved and signed legally," and that it is "the duty of the Governor to transmit the measure to the office of the Secretary of State."

Governor Flynn sent the bill to the office of the office of Secretary of State Ernest L. Sprague Friday, but the latter returned it to the Governor, because, he said, he had been advised by the Attorney General early this week to take no action whatever on any measures passed during the alleged "rump" session of the Senate until he had heard further from the Attorney General's office.

Attorney General Carpenter gave his opinion in a letter to Governor Flynn, a copy of which he sent to Secretary of State Sprague.

The latest development in the legislative tangle came just as the Rhode Island Senators are getting ready for one of the largest wedding celebrations in the history of New England.

This ceremony, in which the States' Democracy will stage marriage-making such as Rhode Island has never known in a long time, will be the marriage of the charming young widow of Governor Philip A. Thomas.

WHITE SOX LEAVE TONIGHT; TYGERS ARRIVE MONDAY

HOVEY HITTING HARD IN HOME ROSE AFTER FINAL

The colorless-white and red-tinted ball series at the Fenway this afternoon, with a constant reminder of the red old days packing the unimproved stands. The Sox are winning more than they have been in a long time.

Large Howard Walsh, who is managing the invading White Sox while Trojan John Evers is resting from the effects of pulling his weight at something, admits that the Red Sox look as good as any team in the league. Toward has seen them all except the Athletics, and they don't make any difference.

Edward, by the way, wishes he could go out and pitch some more. He is even thinking seriously of having legislation started to permit him to use the spitter.

"If I could throw that," he says, "I could go out and win a lot of ball games."

Doubtless he could, but he isn't on the athletic list. When the Harvard delivery was discovered, Walsh was king of them all. He established a reputation over a flock of years that few pitchers have ever equalled. And he's still a picture of perfect health and strength.

ALL-STAR CARD GILFORD NOW PLAYING IN TOP FORM

ALL-STAR CARD GILFORD NOW PLAYING IN TOP FORM

The all-star card at the Casino A. C. Lynn, last Monday night, made such a hit with the fans that the club decided to put on another show of that kind next Monday night, and they have included on the cards all kinds from bankers to housewives.

Young Cronin and Jack O'Brien, both of Lawrence, will settle the lightweight championship of the mill city in a round bout. Lawrence sports are all heated up over the match and a delegation from Lawrence is planning to attend the show. Jack Perry of Fall River will meet Larry of Plymouth in an eight-round bout and the Plymouth examiner, who has not lost a bout since joining the professional ranks, will have to hustle all the way to keep up his winning streak as Perry is a tough young man who can give and take plenty.

Two heavyweights, Honolulu Kid and Cyclone Harris of Worcester, will meet in a ten-rounder and the boys who like the sport should be well pleased with the fact that the Honolulu Kid, who has the Lynn club two years ago and since then has been improved socially and beaten in the ring, will be in the game. He and Harris fought a sensational battle at Lynn two years ago and the referee stopped the bout in the seventh round, when Harris received a bad cut over the eye. Harris, a champion of Maine, and Tony Carver of New York are scheduled in the first of ten rounds, and it should be a whole of a fight. Carver has taken part in fifty-four battles and has won most and some of the boys have been beaten by him. He is a tough young man who can give and take plenty.

Why Oakland's Chassis is more advanced

1. Oakland's new 1.8 liter engine is a masterpiece of light-weight engineering. It incorporates the very latest developments in motor design.

2. The transmission is a unit with the engine. Gears of the finest alloy steel and universal ball bearings, insure quiet and long life. Gear shifting is actually a pleasure.

3. The rugged, drop-forged, "I" beam front axle was purposefully designed for this car. In correct construction insure ease steering and safe driving.

4. Oakland's semi-floating rear axle is the last word in axle design. It is built for long life and safety.

5. Oakland's four-wheel brakes are built for long life and safety. They are built for long life and safety.

6. Oakland's frame is of pressed steel. It is built for long life and safety. It is built for long life and safety.

7. The steering gear is unequalled for ease and convenient driving. All steering controls, as well as horn button and lighting controls, are mounted on the steering wheel, an exclusive feature.

8. Demountable disc steel wheels—five of them—are standard equipment on all models. On most cars you pay extra for them.

Long, easy-riding springs; Harmon radiator with heavily nickel-plated shells; completely enclosed universal joints and tubular drive shafts are other important features.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

Every second man who meets you in the street, wants to tell you how the bottom is going to fall out of the stock market and everything else.

Conspicuous you are told, is a veritable army of speculators, who are being lured into the market by the promise of a quick return. They are being lured into the market by the promise of a quick return. They are being lured into the market by the promise of a quick return.

One of our hobbies is going through industrial plants and examining labor saving devices and machinery. Those who drink Coca-Cola would greatly enjoy an experience I recently had in Atlanta. One of the company's dynamic executives, Harrison Jones, took me all through the mammoth plant. He showed me how the supply of the company was shut off during the war, and how he set to work to eliminate the need for coal and he showed me how the apparently impossible problem had been solved.

But the most interesting thing of all was the machine which made the ingredients which go into every glass of Coca-Cola. Not only are these ingredients all measured out for the most delicate of machinery, but if by any chance a tiny speck too much or a tiny speck too little is added, the machine will stop. This is a contrivance which immediately stops the whole operation. As I understood the explanation, this uncanny result is achieved through an elaborate system of delicate weights and balances.

In addition to this, a sample is taken of every barrel sent out and a couple of chemists analyze the product.

Yes, perfection rules for the stout attention to trifles, but perfection is not the only thing.

The fact that a month's change in the market is the changing of the guard, is a fact which is not common to many other markets. This is the fact which is not common to many other markets. This is the fact which is not common to many other markets.

After kindly references to the service rendered by this column, Mr. Simpson then defines the Marshall Field policy of dealing with partners who become wealthy.

Nothing like a tour through the country to break away from the duties and responsibilities to Marshall Field & Company, the time has come for a separate column.

That's fair enough, isn't it? It would not any other column not be in the best interest of a business.

One of these days, I'm going to tell what has been the guiding motto of George P. Felt, the dean of American bankers, who has earned both an enormous fortune and the respect of everyone who knows him. Later, Mr. Felt.
